Introduction

The Auctioneers and Valuers Association of Australia (AVAA) is committed to strengthening professionalism, integrity, and public confidence across the auction and valuation sectors. This AVAA Professional Standard forms part of a broader framework designed to support consistent practice, ethical conduct, and accountability across the diverse services provided by members.

Professional standards play an important role in defining expectations for those who hold themselves out as skilled practitioners. They establish clear principles for conduct, competence, and responsibility, helping practitioners, clients, and regulators understand the level of professionalism that should reasonably be expected in the marketplace.

This Professional Standard establishes the minimum requirements for the preparation of professional valuation reports by AVAA Certified Valuers (CVAU). Clear and consistent reporting supports transparency, accountability, and professional credibility, ensuring valuation conclusions can be understood and relied upon by clients and other users.

The Standard reflects recognised professional valuation practices and is broadly aligned with international approaches to valuation reporting, which emphasise clarity, disclosure of assumptions, and well-documented analysis supporting valuation conclusions. These principles strengthen confidence in valuation outcomes and promote consistency across the profession.

This standard has been developed through consultation with practitioners and informed by regulatory frameworks, industry experience, and evolving client and government expectations. It is intended to provide practical guidance while reinforcing the importance of transparency, diligence, and professional judgement in everyday practice.

Those holding CAU and CVAU credentials apply this AVAA Professional Standard to demonstrate a commitment to continuous improvement and professional accountability. In doing so, they contribute to a stronger and trusted sector where auctioneers and valuers are recognised not only for their expertise but also for the integrity and reliability of their work.

Title —

AVAA Professional Standard 6 – Minimum Valuation Report Requirements

Purpose —

This Professional Standard establishes the minimum requirements for valuation reports prepared by AVAA members. Consistent reporting improves transparency, professional accountability, and reliability of valuation conclusions, supporting confidence among clients, regulators, courts, and other users of valuation services.

The Standard promotes clarity, consistency, and credibility in professional valuation reporting. By setting minimum reporting expectations, it aligns valuation practice with recognised professional principles that strengthen trust and confidence in valuation outcomes and support informed decision-making by report users. It is broadly aligned with internationally recognised valuation frameworks, including the International Valuation Standards (IVS), which establish global principles for valuation engagement, methodology, and reporting.

Scope —

This Standard sets out the minimum information that must be included in a valuation report. The format, structure, and order of presentation may vary depending on the valuer's individual reporting style or the reporting template adopted by their employer or organisation.

Valuation reports prepared by members may therefore present the required information in a different sequence or format. Reports may also contain additional information beyond these minimum requirements where it assists clarity, supports the valuation analysis, or reflects the specific purpose of the valuation engagement.

Application —

This Professional Standard applies to all individuals who hold CVAu (including the FCVAu) professional credential and the valuation reports that they produce.
